

A Postcard from Cathy Neal

In cities like Chicago and Denver green roofs are cool and reduce stormwater runoff. The Chicago Center for Green Technology has ground-level modules of various green roof systems for visitors to examine. A green roof in Denver looks more like the desert, whereas the meadow on the right is the rooftop of a downtown Chicago parking lot.

