Understanding Our Organization

Mission Statement

UNH Cooperative Extension provides New Hampshire citizens with research-based education and information, enhancing their ability to make informed decisions that strengthen youth, families and communities, sustain natural resources, and improve the economy.

Statement of Values

Our position as a primary outreach unit of the University of New Hampshire, one of the nation's leading comprehensive land-, sea- and space-grant universities.

Our formal partnerships at the county, state, regional and national levels, helping us to serve New Hampshire people.

Our collaborations, formal and informal working relationships with University faculty, individuals and local, state and regional partners.

Our volunteers, their knowledge, contributions and commitment to our mission.

Our responsibility to involve citizens in identifying the needs of diverse audiences and provide educational opportunities to meet those most important needs not being met by other private or public efforts.

Our accessibility, engaging learners where they are, when they are available, providing diverse educational opportunities.

Our accountability to New Hampshire citizens and decision-makers, ensuring that our educational efforts remain relevant, efficient, grass-roots based and continuously evaluated.

Our staff, well-educated, informed, resourceful professionals with the expertise and desire to work collaboratively, and committed to accomplishing our mission through applied research, proven and innovative delivery methods and new technologies.

Vision Statement

UNH Cooperative Extension will engage individuals, citizen groups, public agencies and key decision-makers throughout New Hampshire with diverse educational programs that concretely and meaningfully reflect the University of New Hampshire's five core values: engagement, responsiveness, resourcefulness, effectiveness and community. In so doing, we envision earning statewide recognition and acclaim as the University's premier outreach arm.

UNH Cooperative Extension

Part of the nationwide land-grant university system, UNH Cooperative Extension is a major outreach program of the University of New Hampshire. It provides a direct link between UNH and people throughout the state. In partnership with local residents and volunteers, Cooperative Extension plans and conducts educational programs addressing needs and issues important to New Hampshire people.

Cooperative Extension's broad scope of activities, identified through a statewide needs assessment and reflected through our many partnerships with other organizations, agencies and academic departments, aim to foster development of competent individuals and strong families, strengthen New Hampshire communities, conserve and improve natural resources, and strengthen the economic viability of agricultural, forest and marine industries.

Cooperative Extension is a network of 170 full- and part-time professional and support staff located in New Hampshire's 10 counties, at the main UNH campus in Durham, and the urban campus in Manchester. More than 4,000 volunteers extend the reach of Extension staff throughout the state. Cooperative Extension designs and conducts educational programs in the areas of natural resources, and youth, families and communities. We use a variety of methods to engage the public in an interactive process designed to deliver information, research and programs.

Teaching, clinical, and research faculty from UNH's schools, colleges, centers and institutes work in partnership with Extension faculty to address the state's priority needs. Currently the majority of Extension's campus-based specialists are located in academic departments to maximize the potential for integrating teaching, research and outreach. Efforts are continuing to increase the number of specialists in departments

2007-2012*

A Brief History of Extension

In 1862 the Morrill Act, commonly called the Land Grant Act, provided federal support in the form of grants of public land to any state that would establish colleges to teach agriculture and mechanical arts, without excluding other scientific or classical studies.

In 1897 the Hatch Act allowed for the establishment of Agricultural Experiment Stations at one Land Grant College in each state. This is important because this act established agricultural research as a recognized function of the Land Grant University.

Farmer's Institutes became one of the primary means of disseminating research findings of the Experiment Stations to general audiences and Agriculture and Home Economics teaching faculty served as institute resource persons.

Demonstrations became the medium by which experiment station programs were delivered and the term "demonstration agents" was coined to identify personnel engaged in this effort.

In 1906, the first County Demonstration Agent, W.C. Stallings, was hired in Texas.

Private funding spurred the spread of agent hires and home demonstration agents were soon added to address topics of interest to homemakers.

In 1907, the first 4-H Club was organized in Mississippi. In 1909, the 4-H Cloverleaf was first used. In 1911, the Cloverleaf was adopted as the 4-H national emblem.

In the early 1900s extension work began to flourish and the single most important piece of legislation became law in 1914, the Smith Lever Act. The Smith Lever Act of 1914 provided for mutual cooperation of the United States Department of Agriculture and Land Grant Colleges in conducting agricultural extension work; it specified that the work. "...shall consist of instruction and practical demonstration in agriculture and home economics to persons not attending or resident in said colleges in the several communities, and imparting to such persons information on said subjects through field demonstrations, publications and other wise ..."

As the nation's needs continue to change, Cooperative Extension's role has changed to meet them and regardless of the labels given to Extension programs, it is the people served who are important. Extension's overall objective will be to continue to plan, execute, deliver and evaluate learning programs consistent with locally identified needs. Extension will help people acquire the understanding, capabilities, attitudes and skills essential to solving farm, home, environmental and community problems.
