

4-H Fashion Revue Narrator Checklist

- ★ Work with the Fashion Revue Coordinator to guarantee smooth flow of the show. Decide groupings and write beginning scripts, transitions to the next narrator, and ending script.
- ★ Review narration scripts so you become familiar with reading them. Practice reading each narration several times.
- ★ Practice reading scripts on the microphone. Learn how to adjust the microphone for your best voice projection. Read slowly and distinctly. Pause to allow modeling 4-H'er to exit before starting the next script. Try to maintain good eye contact with the audience. Remember to SMILE, too!
- ★ Be sure to read scripts with each participant to learn how to say their name correctly and to adjust scripts if necessary.
- ★ Be available to read scripts during practice sessions and offer any suggestions to assist 4-H'ers with showcasing their outfit. Keep track, on a master list, of who has come through the practice session. Inform coordinators of any missing youth. All participants need to practice!
- ★ Organize your group in order of modeling. Be sure all members are present and that the scripts match the line-up order. Avoid the mistake of reading a script for those who are not there. Re-check the line-up order and script order just before going on stage. Recruit helpers to make the show flow smoothly.
- ★ Thanks for volunteering! Write down any ideas to improve the 4-H Fashion Revue program and send them to the Cooperative Extension 4-H Staff in your county.
