OVERVIEW OF COMMUNITY PROFILES

The Community Profile is a process by which communities take stock of where they are today and develop an action plan for how they want to operate in the future. Whether the issue is a quality school system, an air pollution problem, lack of adequate affordable housing or solid waste disposal, the need for effective problem-solving skills is the same. A community must have strong leaders, from all sectors, who are able to work together with informed involved citizens to reach agreement on issues. The Community Profile assists communities to develop their problem-solving ability. It is a self-evaluation tool that draws heavily on the collective wisdom of the participants and is not a test or a comparison between communities. It provides a method for citizens to affirm community strengths, identify concerns and problems, and then to help a community structure collaborative approaches to meet these challenges creatively, set directions for the future, and manage change.

The original Civic Profile emerged from the Governor’s Commission on New Hampshire in the 21st Century as a process and a mechanism that communities could use to strengthen their civic infrastructure. The National Civic League, along with several university studies, identified those qualities that make a community work - that help communities plan for the future and survive such dramatic change as extreme population growth, plant shut-downs or military base closings.

In 1995, the League of Women Voters in the Upper Valley, working with UNH Cooperative Extension and UVM Cooperative Extension, identified ten key qualities that help a community to work well and sustain its social, economic, and environmental health for the future. This is the model that was adapted by the University of New Hampshire Cooperative Extension and are the “tools” of the community’s self-assessment.

Creating a Community Profile in Henniker

The Henniker Community Profile was conducted as a result of the Planning Board’s desire to update the town’s Master Plan as well as enlist more citizen participation in the activities and needs of the community.

The history of Henniker, as narrated by Jen Connor

Welcome to the Henniker Community Profile. My name is Jen Connor and I am a seventh generation Connor in the town of Henniker.

Our town has not always had its unique name. Originally it was called Number Six which came from being the sixth land grant in a line from the Connecticut River to the Merrimack. After a group settled in the area from Marlborough, MA they named it New Marlborough. Later on, the land was granted to Andrew Todd who unselfishly named it Todd’s Town. It was not until 1768 when a group petitioned to become an official town that we became known as Henniker. Henniker was incorporated on November 10, 1768. The name was given to us by the last Royal Governor of New Hampshire, John Wentworth, to honor his friend - Sir John Henniker - a London shipping merchant. For this reason we can proudly say we are the only Henniker on Earth!

In the beginning, Henniker was primarily a farming and agricultural town. Fields were home to live stock and crops. Fruit production was quite profitable with enough apples produced to export thousands of bushels a year to Manchester and Boston. Not only was the soil rich, but the Contoocook River provided a great source of hydropower to support the many mills, shops and factories built along its shores. Henniker hosted two major industries for many years - farming and manufacturing - which was supported by the thriving rail system. Just some of the goods produced in town were paper, flour, lumber, clothing, tin-ware, blacksmith’s supplies and furniture.

Henniker was not immune to Mother Nature and her sheer strength and power. It is hard to believe that the stone bridge in the center of town was reduced to a pile of rocks as a result of the Hurricane of 1938. Four days of heavy rain washed out the bridge and many roads in town. Two years earlier, many of the same roads and other bridges in town were washed away as a result of an icy winter, heavy snows and the rapid rise in temperature. Through it all, townspeople worked together to keep life going as smooth as possible and rebuild their town.

After World War II, educating returning veterans became a priority for the country. Many colleges were established during this time, including New England College. The school opened its doors in September of 1946 with no money, buildings or financial support. Merchants in town provided credit to the new school and eventually became its board of trustees. My great-grandfather - Fred T. Connor was among those trustees and individuals responsible for bringing the college to town. One of the first buildings the college purchased was the Henniker Inn. It was used for dining services and student housing until the 1960's and now serves as the administration building. Over the years, the college has grown to what you see today and established itself as a major fixture of our town.

Probably the largest and most emotional change to Henniker’s landscape occurred in the early 1960's when the Hopkinton-Everett Dam was built and large portions of Henniker’s prime land (over 2000 acres) were taken by eminent domain. Thirty families were displaced, neighborhoods and businesses disappeared and townspeople lost their jobs as the mills were forced to move or close altogether. In true small town spirit, people turned to each other and helped neighbors and friends rebuild their lives.

Throughout its history, religion has played a large part in our community. This could explain the tight knit feeling townspeople have toward each other. Today the two active churches are the Congregational Church and St. Theresa’s Catholic Church. However, in years past, Henniker has been home to a Methodist Church (now the Henniker Community Center), a Baptist community,
Universalist Church (now the Grange Hall) and the Quakers. While there are not as many in the Quaker community, gatherings are still held in the Quaker Meeting House.

Henniker’s past has shaped the town in to what you see today. With the exception of a few small family farms scattered around the hills, the industry is largely a part of our history. The mills and factories are gone as well, but the community is still thriving. With the college still the main industry in town, Henniker is home to many businesses - large and small. From the mom and pop shops, and lumber mills to the family owned ski area to the company that ships medical supplies all over the world. The town continues to evolve and change with the times all the while remaining true to its roots.

Henniker is your typical New England small town. We have picturesque bridges, historical homes, white picket fences, and a beautiful landscape. But more importantly, Henniker is a community full of pride and spirit. Where neighbors are there for each other no matter what - a natural disaster, government seizure, a sick child, or simply a joyous celebration. Henniker citizens come together to help and honor their own. This is not just a place to live, it is a truly a home.

THE SIX COMPONENTS

After we developed a mosaic and vision for Henniker and digested some of the history, Michele Gagne introduced us to the idea of discussing Henniker within the framework of 6 qualities which can be used to profile a community. These topics, drawn from the work of the National Civic League and adapted by UNH Cooperative Extension, are important components of any successful community. These components make a community work well now and sustain the cultural, economic and environmental health and vitality for the long-term future.

Civic Infrastructure
Informed Citizen Participation and Community Leadership
Sense of Community and Recreational & Cultural Heritage

Community Infrastructure
Fostering Healthy Families, Individuals and Youth and Lifelong Learning
Community Services, Facilities and Utilities & Transportation

Environment
Working Landscape and the Natural Environment

Economy
Economic Vitality and Growth and Development

Next, 6 small groups were randomly formed, one group for each of the combined components. The small groups adjourned to various rooms where community trained facilitators led the groups in their discussions and recorders made notes on large tablets. Each group considered the definition of their component and examined the statements to be considered for their component to begin the discussion. Participants were asked to list the strengths of Henniker as they saw them, and then to list its concerns. Next the groups gave some thought to the problems and issues they thought were important to the town’s future. Finally, each group was asked to identify five key issues that need to be addressed by the town. These were brought back to the whole group and highlighted in three-minute summations presented by a member of each small group Saturday morning.
Friday Evening

1. Informed Citizen Participation and Community Leadership

Facilitator: Tim Fleury  Recorder: Laura Scott  Spokesperson: Peter Flynn

Participants: Jack Bopp, Ken Carr, Pat Fisher, Peter Flynn, Amanda Gilman, Greg Goldberry, Jean Lewis, Theresa Maier, Janice McElroy, Martha Taylor

Statement of Purpose:

In a healthy community, citizens actively participate through voting in the local elections, serving on local boards, attending public hearings, and being involved in civic organizations and community activities. All citizens need to develop knowledge and skills to contribute to community life. All sectors within a community—private, public and nonprofit—must each take responsibility for the community’s civic education and generate and share information with the public. Sharing in problem solving and planning for the future as a community increases pride in the community and can result in an ethic of giving and sharing as a way of life.

The public, private and non-profit sectors must all develop leaders who can cooperate with each other in enhancing the long-term future of the community. Leadership should be responsive, honest, efficient, enlightened, fair and accountable. Leaders should be representative of their community and should have both a grasp of the community’s problems and the ability to envision an economically secure, environmentally sound and socially viable future. Leaders should be attuned to the potential to exploit opportunities and to solve problems of the community by cooperating with other neighboring communities.

Statements a community should consider:

- Citizens know how the system works and it is easy for newcomers to learn how to get involved in the community.
- People find out easily what is going on in the community.

3. Community Services, Facilities, Utilities & Transportation

Facilitator: Louise F. Cyr Recorder: Ashley Morce Spokesperson: John Kjellman

Participants: Craig Blouin, John Kjellman, Nicole Gage, Jeannie Ackerman, Cynthia Martin, Yolanda Mcknair, Mark Mitch, David Reid, Doug White

Statement of Purpose:

A community provides many essential facilities and services to its members - public facilities such as municipal buildings, schools, sidewalks, roads, libraries, a recycling center and cemeteries as well as services and utilities such as police, fire, ambulance, highway maintenance, water and sewer. These key functions consume the majority of tax dollars and sharply influence the community’s quality of life.

Roads get most of us where we need and want to go and most people drive their own cars for convenience. However, more vehicles sharing the roads results in increased highway maintenance, air pollution and traffic congestion. Alternatives to automobile travel include pedestrians and bicycle travel and bus and rail transportation.

Statements a community should consider:

• Public facilities and services such as _________ are needed in our community.
• The community’s road system is adequate and well-maintained. The use of traffic controls (signs, lights, speed limits, police, etc) is well planned and coordinated.
• Our public water source is protected.
• Our community does a great job of reducing, recycling, and disposing of its wastes.
• The town has a plan for financing the maintenance, expansion and replacement of its public facilities.
• The community is open to regional solutions for future infrastructural needs.
• Public buildings such as schools and town offices are adequate for our needs.
• Public buildings are accessible to people with disabilities and are energy efficient.
• The community is easy to travel around by foot and bicycle.
• Officials address qualitative concerns about facilities and systems and utilize alternative methods of service delivery.
• Appropriate physical connections exist, such as public transportation between housing and job sites.
• The levels and quality of emergency services - fire, police and ambulance are ____.
• The community encourages carpooling, and helps make it work for people by providing information and accessible parking areas.

Participants: Richard Conde, Linda Connor, Martin Ferreira, Lisa Hustis, Neal Martin, Brian Mazerski, Nina Morse, Michael Moynihan, Kathy Mullholand, Joan O'Connor, Lori Runksmeir

Statement of Purpose:
The private, public and non-profit sectors are all important in attracting new investment and in developing new businesses that suit the character of the community and meet its needs. A community can more effectively manage its growth through the prudent use of local zoning ordinances and planning regulations that guide how land is divided, used, and developed. These tools allow the community to regulate the development of residential areas, commercial districts and the town center.

A healthy community includes access to a variety of environmentally sound and successful businesses, industries, and institutions that provide reasonable wages and benefits to workers, engage in family-friendly policies, provide workers with opportunities to develop marketable skills and contribute to the overall well-being of the community. Another important factor in the development of a healthy community is the diversity of housing. This encompasses availability, affordability and location, all of which affect the lives of community members, especially the elderly, disabled and low-income families.

Statements a community should consider:

• A variety of businesses, industries and institutions make up the economic base of the community and the region, such as _____________.
• There are locally available educational opportunities to provide residents with skills that match the needs of local businesses.
• Local government works well with the local businesses to enhance the economic vitality of the community.
• There are business services lacking in the community, such as _________.
• Community members patronize downtown businesses on a regular basis and value the local businesses.
• Wages allow the majority of the population to enjoy a reasonable lifestyle.
• The community’s zoning and planning regulations are updated regularly and reflect a broad spectrum of residents’ vision of the community in 5, 10 and 20 years.
• There is adequate affordable and rental housing for the elderly and disabled, young families and/or single-parent families.

Facilitator: Theo (UNH)    Recorder: Steve (UNH)    Spokesperson: Terry Stamps

Participants: Heidi Galster, Angela Robinson, Terry Stamps, Ron Taylor, Ruth Zax, Susan Murray, Jennifer Parker

Statement of Purpose:

Natural resources and historical assets of a community contribute significantly to the quality of life for residents and play an integral part in defining community character. Streams, rivers, walking trails, working farms, forest, clean air, historic buildings and bridges, wildlife and open land help to determine a community’s personality and contribute to the everyday pleasures of community life. A sustainable community recognizes the importance of these assets and takes appropriate measures to assure their continuance.

Statements a community should consider:

- The community has recently inventoried its natural base.
- There is broad community interest and participation in protecting key natural resource and historical assets.
- Steps have been taken to provide long term land protection to assure functioning natural resource systems.
- The local economy and population are putting stress on those natural resource systems.
- There are ways to increase the resilience of the local natural resource systems to allow them to respond to diverse or changing conditions, such as ____________.
- Current systems, such as waste management, are handled in a way that preserves the integrity of natural systems in the community without damaging the integrity of natural systems elsewhere.
- Existing businesses are environmentally sound.
- Public water sources are protected.
- Some of these natural resource features are unique or in some way important regionally or statewide.
- Natural resource and open space contribute to the economic vitality of the community.

The 6 easels from the small groups were arrayed across the front of the room, each bearing a list of the key issues for that topic area. This portion of the day began with short presentations from a member of each of the groups, explaining their group’s list. The entire group worked together to evaluate and refine this list. After some discussion, 6 themes emerged as important to study for the future of Henniker. This list is presented below.

Informed Citizen Participation and Community Leadership

- Increase knowledge of volunteer opportunities and expand the culture of volunteerism
- Develop a pool of potential people to serve as appointed/elected official and board members
- Develop a mechanism for welcoming new residents
- Use technology to improve communication
- Conscious, directed efforts to expand and develop community participation and leadership among under-represented groups

- Zoning
- Better communication and technology access (competition/lower prices)
- College and town relations – town and gown
- Make Henniker a destination for retail and tourism/recreation to and from Concord

Sense of Community and Recreational & Cultural Heritage

- Treat the river as an asset
- Protect the rural nature of the town
- Better partnerships with NEC for cultural and recreational activities
- More activities to bring townsfolk together
- Improve enjoyment for young people
- Increased communication and outreach
- Promoting social capital and community volunteering

Working Landscape and the Natural Environment

- Balancing development with environmental protection
- Attracting businesses that align with Henniker’s values and rural character
- Helping the community understand what affects property taxes
- Market and optimize the recreational opportunities that exist (recreational destination)
- Enhance village area with additional gathering spots and appropriate small businesses aligned with historical aesthetics
After lunch, participants each chose which of the 6 themes they would like to discuss further and broke into small groups accordingly. Each topic attracted enough people to form a small working group.

The task of each group was to think about problems that existed in each theme and then to brainstorm possible solutions/answers to the issue identified. We did that by thinking out loud for half an hour or so about “problems” and “goals.” Then we suggested solutions, from practical to fanciful to idealistic. The next step was to evaluate the reality of each possible solution/project using the following impact/feasibility grid.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>IMPACT: How much will it matter?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Low</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>FEASIBILITY: How possible is it in our community?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Low</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Using the grid above, we copied each of our proposed solutions onto sticky notes. For each solution, the group decided together what the feasibility and impact of the solution would be. Then we placed the sticky note in the appropriate box.

Based on the grid, each group chose three solutions and wrote them up as proposals on their easel to be presented to the large group. Some groups chose only proposals with high impact/feasibility ratings, while others chose projects from a variety of ratings. Small projects, which were highly feasible but of low impact, were favored by those who wanted to start small and accomplish something quickly. Long term, difficult projects had advocates who were willing to commit to longer struggles with high rewards. Many of the groups proposed a combination of proposals. Verbatim notes from each of the groups are presented below.
SATURDAY MORNING

Serving the Needs of People of All Ages

Facilitator: Tim Fleury     Recorder: Rebecca Warner Maccini     Spokesperson: Jim O’Rourke

PROBLEM

• Meeting the needs of the neediest people in town
• Fitness, needs about people’s health, spirituality
• Need for a wellness center that incorporates lots of activities that meet the needs of people of all ages
• No cohesive place, have different places that meet needs
• Remember the needs of people with disabilities, elders, those family members who are older and living with younger family members who are working
• Need to identify disabilities, need to remember ADA
• Lack of continuum of care in our community – people would like to stay in town- lack of housing in town for this. Need is growing. People are moving out of town.
• Lack of coordinated effort, person that takes care of or looks at the needs of young people, teens
• Need of a person who is paid to coordinate the efforts. This person – grantwriter?
• Knowledge of, or various passages for young people in the community, something to look forward to that exists at age 11, 13, 15 (feeling like part of something) – part of the community
• Finding an overall plan for people of all ages in a comprehensive, cohesive way
• Fragmentation of the various recreation boards and other activities
• Give international students an understanding of town life and connecting people of various ages – teaching one another, helping one another
• Families – feel disconnected until their kids are in school
• Needs of the renters – integrating them

POTENTIAL PROJECTS/SOLUTIONS

• Meeting place that is central will enable connections between town and college
• Help people be more connected beyond the town, think globally. Lift up sister city connections, the trips to Nicaragua. Make these resources available and help incorporate these into the ‘passages’ that happen in the town.
• Learn from other towns and find out how they are doing things to address the same issues that we have (ex. Rec. Director in Hopkinton)
• Study how other towns or organizations deal with the same struggles. Find out from other towns what resources are available to do what we want to do.
• Social worker funded by the town
• NEC and town ‘facility’ could be integrated

- 35 -
• Internships/work study students – use them in the community or in the integrated ‘facility’ for NEC and community
• Model that looks at preventing problems, especially considering the people who have the greatest needs
• Big facility run by professionals that provides comprehensive activities and wellness programs to meet needs of people of all ages
• Information overall of what exists to provide for recreational, spiritual and social in the community right now (volunteer opportunities, global connections, environmental – looking beyond our community and how we connect with the rest of the world
• On website, brochure – overview of what exists right now and make this available for people
• Ability to sign up on e-mail list for programs that provide for needs. Make needs and opportunities known through e-mail.
• Way to develop social-networking of places in town
• Welcoming packet to people in town (realtors know this). Ideas include: visit from someone, welcoming committee, ways to track new people, have a follow-up visit, newcomer’s potluck.
• Connect townspeople and international students especially at holiday time. Adopt a Student – incorporate integration. Welcome students to church Thanksgiving dinner.
• Connect freshmen to families in town
