OVERVIEW OF COMMUNITY PROFILES

The Community Profile is a process by which communities take stock of where they are today and develop an action plan for how they want to operate in the future. Whether the issue is a quality school system, an air pollution problem, lack of adequate affordable housing or solid waste disposal, the need for effective problem-solving skills is the same. A community must have strong leaders, from all sectors, who are able to work together with informed involved citizens to reach agreement on issues. The Community Profile assists communities to develop their problem-solving ability. It is a self-evaluation tool that draws heavily on the collective wisdom of the participants and is not a test or a comparison between communities. It provides a method for citizens to affirm community strengths, identify concerns and problems, and then to help a community structure collaborative approaches to meet these challenges creatively, set directions for the future, and manage change.

The original Civic Profile emerged from the Governor’s Commission on New Hampshire in the 21st Century as a process and a mechanism that communities could use to strengthen their civic infrastructure. The National Civic League, along with several university studies, identified those qualities that make a community work - that help communities plan for the future and survive such dramatic change as extreme population growth, plant shut-downs or military base closings.

In 1995, the League of Women Voters in the Upper Valley, working with UNH Cooperative Extension and UVM Cooperative Extension, identified ten key qualities that help a community to work well and sustain its social, economic, and environmental health for the future. This is the model that was adapted by the University of New Hampshire Cooperative Extension and are the “tools” of the community’s self-assessment.

Creating a Community Profile in Epping

Speak Up, Epping! was conducted as a result of the efforts of many community members, with support from the Epping Planning Board and Selectmen, all hoping to gain a vision for the community that would assist in the Master Plan Update as well as enlist more citizen participation in the activities and needs of the community.

It was supported by many individuals and businesses. Thanks to all of them for making the event happen:

Community Profile
Saturday Morning

The Community Profile was conducted at Epping Middle-High School on Saturday April 14, 2007. Approximately 150 citizens attended.

The event began on Saturday with a pancake breakfast prepared by Laura Dodge and Diane Thibeault. Charlie French, Extension Specialist, and Liz Conrad, Co-Chair of the Steering Committee, gave an overview of the profile process and an introduction to the goals for the day. The goal of the Profile is strengthening community involvement; its key idea is sustainability - balancing economic and environmental factors while thinking about the impacts of our actions for the next seven generations.

We spent a few minutes meeting each other, learning how long we had lived in town, where we lived and where we work. We were then asked to offer descriptions of what our town was like right now and what we would like it to be like in the future. Adjectives and phrases were called out and recorded on large easels labeled “NOW” and “FUTURE” at the front of the room. Here are the results:

THE MOSAIC - What is Epping like today?
- growing
- busy
- still rural
- it’s not as caring and no time to volunteer
- diverse population
- core of people who really care and many people on fringes
- rich and prime in location relative to outside
- whole lot of smart, fun people
- commercial
- growing pains
- there is disagreement among groups in town
- convenient
- a lot of hobby farms in town
- full of potential that is unrealized
- still the center of the universe
- a lot of us who volunteer our time to the fire department
- in transition
- not enough newcomers are here
- disconnected
- small
- incredibly supportive of school system, a lot of parent involvement
- older demographically
- no “G” in Epping
- turning into Plaistow
- attractive to retirees
- not sure what there is to do in Epping
- concerned about environment (becoming more green-oriented; oldest recycling center)
- the Harvey’s still let us sled on their hill
- fun place to live
• still a good place to raise children
• good place to send children to school
• not a lot for “20 somethings” to do

THE VISION – What do we want Epping to be like in the future?
• bicycle paths
• fewer Applebee’s and more Zampa
• little more growth but not too much at one time
• still a small town
• better communication
• educating all citizens about issues before going into voting booth
• better development of natural resources
• community center
• keeping the rural flavor
• residents to take pride in property
• more investment in schools
• more pride in community
• open space
• use all of resources/diversity in town
• public transportation
• manage commercial growth
• affordable housing
• energy independence and environment sustainability
• dog park
Historical Overview – Madelyn Williamson, Historical Society

The Epping historical presentation was an illustrated power point narrative titled "From Back to the Future". It was effectively begun and concluded by Native American drumming meant to focus on Epping’s ancient beginnings, historical legacy and future aspirations. The general foundation used was the Town Seal depicting the river, red clay soil and three Governors.

Madelyn began with the lives of the earliest inhabitants along the river, water powered mills and creation of the town followed by the brick-making industries (red clay) and others with the resulting social economic and architectural changes within a more industrialized and growing town, the latter including street scenes, public buildings, schoolhouses and churches with emphasis on one religious community (Hedding). Illustrated narrative of military services was included and a surprising variety of native notable persons were focused upon all using photos wherever possible, including Epping's three Governors.

COMMUNITY PROFILE ELEVEN COMPONENTS

After we developed a mosaic and vision for Epping and digested some of the history, Charlie French introduced us to the idea of discussing Epping within the framework of 11 qualities which can be used to profile a community. These topics, drawn from the work of the National Civic League and adapted by UNH Cooperative Extension, are important components of any successful community. These components make a community work well now and sustain the cultural, economic and environmental health and vitality for the long-term future.

Civic Infrastructure
Effective Community Leadership
Informed Citizen Participation
Sense of Community

Community Infrastructure
Fostering Healthy Families, Individuals and Youth
Lifelong Education and Learning
Community Services, Facilities and Utilities
Recreation and Cultural Heritage

Environment
Working Landscape and the Natural Environment

Economy
Economic Vitality
Growth and Development
Transportation

Next, 11 small groups were randomly formed, one group for each of the components. The small groups adjourned to various rooms where community trained facilitators led the groups in their discussions and recorders made notes on large tablets. Each group considered the definition of their component and examined the statements to be considered for their component to begin the discussion. Participants were asked to list the strengths of Epping as they saw them, and then to list its concerns. Next the groups gave some thought to the problems and issues they thought were important to the town’s future. Finally, each group was asked to identify five key issues that need to be addressed by the town. These were brought back to the whole group and highlighted in three-minute summations presented by a member of each small group before lunch.
1. Effective Community Leadership
Facilitator: Irene Cote   Recorder: Emily Lawless   Spokesperson: Amy Randall
Participants: Kevin Martin, Fred Hopper, Maryanne Swegles, Joy True, Donna Keefe, Madelyn Williamson

Statement of Purpose:

Healthy communities have, and develop, public leaders who work together to enhance the long-term future of the community. Community leadership must be responsive, honest, efficient, enlightened, fair and accountable. It should have the ability to bring the community together to participate in open, neutral dialogue on important issues.

Leaders should be representative of their community and be able to envision an economically secure, environmentally sound and social viable future. Leaders should understand the challenges facing the community and be able to take advantage of opportunities within the community and in cooperation with neighboring ones. Leadership should empower community members to assist in resolving community issues.

Statements a community should consider:

- Our leadership actively recruits, trains and empowers new leaders.
- Leadership represents diverse community interest (age and gender groups, length of time they have resided in the community, culture, etc).
- Community leadership demonstrates knowledge, accountability, professionalism, innovation and is results-oriented.
- Leaders involve local citizens in identifying community goals and resolving community issues.
- Leadership seeks out opportunities to exchange information with citizens about community issues.
- Community leadership is proactive, dealing with critical issues before they become crises.
- Leaders demonstrate long-range (20+ years) thinking. They understand the impacts of their actions on the long term health and vitality of the community.
- Leaders share the responsibilities of the community with its members and empower others to help find solutions.
- Leaders are willing to consider and use creative methods for addressing challenges, and look for regional solutions where appropriate.
- Leaders discuss issues with other leaders in the region.

Group Response – Challenges:
• more involvement in community
• more homework to be done on project and contracts

• more aggressive action to gain newcomers
• individual interest of residents
• extroverts need to help bring in introverts
• involve younger people

Vision for the Future:
• managed growth

8. expand historic district
2. Informed Citizen Participation
Facilitator: Marjorie Pim  Recorder: Marc Smith  Spokesperson: Mike Morasco
Participants: Jeff Conrad, Charles P. Sanborn, Bill Camire, Mike Swegles, Dan Bennis

Statement of Purpose:

In a healthy community, citizens actively participate through voting in the local elections, serving on local boards, attending public hearings, and being involved in civic organizations and community activities. The increasing complexity of municipal operations is limiting the ability of government to meet community needs, escalating the importance of active citizen involvement and volunteerism.

All sectors within a community – private, public and nonprofit-must each take responsibility for the community’s civic education and exchange information with the public. All citizens need to develop knowledge and skills to contribute to community life. Shared problem solving and planning for the future as a community increase local pride and commitment.

Statements a community should consider:

• Citizens know how the system works and it is easy for newcomers to learn how to get involved in the community.
• People find out easily what is going on in the community.
• We have a _________ level of volunteerism and philanthropy in the community.
• Civic education efforts involve the entire community.
• Schools, churches, youth and civic groups provide citizen education and promote community service.
• Citizens are actively recruited and involved in major projects.
• Citizens volunteer to serve on local boards and committees.
• Participation is proactive instead of reactive, facing community issues before they become crises.
• Civic organizations and local businesses actively contribute to community functions.
• Citizens have the information they need to make good decisions.
• There is both adequate and balanced media coverage of local events and issues.
• Local communities and boards communicate well with each other, the public and with boards and committees throughout the region.
• Local citizens are actively involved in civic and business organizations and clubs that involve interaction with residents of neighboring communities.

Key Issues for Now and the Future:

3. Sense of Community
Facilitator: Judy Leavis  Recorder: Allison Thurston  Spokesperson: Julie DiTursi
Participants: Judy Sanborn, Joe Denoncour, Brian Toomire, Barbara Camire, Louise Harvey, Kristin Morasco, Cliff Cray

Statement of Purpose:

A sense of community is an intangible yet vital component of a healthy community. It encompasses elements such as image, spirit, character and pride, along with processes such as communication, inter-group relations and networking.

A community is made up of different people with different interests, experiences and backgrounds. These characteristics may divide a community into natural groups but there must be cooperation among them if the community is to work well as a unit. Increased communication and understanding of different perspectives among groups and within the community as a whole is an important factor in establishing a sense of community.
Villages, towns, and cities with a sense of community include those wherein all members: contribute to and hold a common vision for the future; respect and celebrate their heritage, diversity, and resources; share information, and; develop and sustain an abundance of social networks and relationships.

Statements a community should consider:

- There is adequate communication among diverse groups in the community such as natives/newcomers, summer/year round residents, young parents/retirees, as well as business community, commuters, etc.
- Groups like the above are involved in identifying community goals and in resolving community issues.
- The community’s heritage is celebrated regularly.
- There is a common vision for our community among members.
- Community members often put aside their differences to work for the common good of the community.
- All groups know how to become involved in the community.
- Formal and informal forums exist for sharing ideas and resolving public issues.
- Collective decisions which represent broad input are reached and implemented.
- The self image of the community is a positive one.
- Social and cultural diversity are celebrated in the community.

Group Response – Challenges:

- not sure what community we belong to—Manchester or Seacoast

- newcomers don’t trust their neighbors
- volunteerism going down
- fear of being accused of abuse – misinterpretation of physical contact (i.e. hugging)
- counter effects of society, technology and busy lifestyles (Internet)
- how many families have meals together
- lack of community center

Statement of Purpose:

Most communities face a variety of challenging social issues, such as substance abuse, domestic abuse, poverty, and other concerns related to the elderly, youth and families. Addressing these concerns effectively takes the coordinated efforts of the public, private, and nonprofit sector.

Support services such as adequate child day care, comprehensive after-school, youth, teen and senior programs, preventative health and substance abuse programs, parenting and family support programs, and effective human service networks help strengthen the social fabric of a community. Aided by effective communication, compassionate leadership, active citizen participation, and inter-group cooperation, a comprehensive package of supportive services will enable a community to nurture healthy community member.

Statements a community should consider:

- There are _________ local and/or regional programs available addressing the social issues of our youth, teens, seniors, parents and families.

Statement of Purpose:

Education is a lifelong endeavor, much more extensive than just the K-12 school system. It starts at home, continues through childhood and the teen years, and progresses throughout adult life. People of all ages need to develop knowledge and skills in order to improve the quality of their own lives and those of their families, and to contribute more effectively to community life.

Programs of higher education and lifelong education provide local business with a pool of trained employees. Other formal and informal learning opportunities allow community members to discover hidden talents and develop an array of interests and skills. Lifelong learning allows citizens to manage their lives more effectively in a changing economy and to participate in increasingly complex municipal operations with greater knowledge and skill.

Statements a community should consider:

- Educational opportunities are easily accessible and provided equitably.
- Lifelong educational opportunities, including formal and informal academic, vocational, artistic, and spiritual meet the community’s needs.
- School planning is forward thinking and is open to regional solutions.
- There is a plentiful pool of skilled labor for local businesses to draw from.
- The level and quality of adult literacy programming in the community is ______.
- The public school facilities adequately meet community members’ needs.
- There is a (n) ______ level of quality preschool and daycare opportunities in the community.
- There is good communication and cooperation between the municipal government and the local public school board.
- Local and regional employers actively support and are involved in the local K-12 public schools.
- The community supports and values high quality K-12 public school education.
- There is a support network for community members who home-school their children.

Group Response-Strengths:

- K-12 school system in town
- three daycares
- exercise group
• Recreation Department

Facilitator: Bob Lonek  Recorder: Derrick Cullen  Spokesperson: Kathy Stanley
Participants: Ray Racine, Jeff Harris, Bob Kimball, Amogene Kimball, John Schmidt

Statement of Purpose:
Natural resources and historical assets of a community contribute significantly to the quality of life for residents and play an integral part in defining community character. Streams, rivers, walking trails, working farms, forest, clean air, historic buildings and bridges, wildlife and open land help to determine a community’s personality and contribute to the everyday pleasures of community life. A sustainable community recognizes the importance of these assets and takes appropriate measures to assure their continuance.

Statements a community should consider:

• The community has recently inventoried its natural base.
• There is broad community interest and participation in protecting key natural resource and historical assets.
• Steps have been taken to provide long-term land protection to assure functioning natural resource systems.
• The local economy and population are putting stress on those natural resource systems.
• There are ways to increase the resilience of the local natural resource systems to allow them to respond to diverse or changing conditions, such as ____________.
• Current systems, such as waste management, are handled in a way that preserves the integrity of natural systems in the community without damaging the integrity of natural systems elsewhere.

Statement of Purpose:

The private, public and non-profit sectors are all important in attracting new investment and in developing new businesses that suit the character of the community and meet its needs. The need to sustain successful workplaces is an important factor to the health of a community. The more often money circulates within the community before leaving, the more the community benefits.

A healthy community includes access to a variety of environmentally sound businesses, industries, and institutions that provide reasonable wages and benefits to workers, engage in family-friendly policies, provide workers with opportunities to develop marketable skills, and contribute to the overall well-being of the community.

Statements a community should consider:

- A variety of businesses, industries and institutions make up the economic base of the community and the region, such as ____________.
- We have a diverse economic base. No one sector or one employer dominates; there is a wide variety of sectors and employers.
- Existing businesses are environmentally sound.

Statement of Purpose:

A community can more effectively manage its growth through the prudent use of local zoning ordinances and planning regulations that guide how land is divided, used and developed. These tools allow the community to regulate the development of residential areas, commercial districts, and the town center. These are key considerations in managing growth while maintaining community character.

Another important factor in the development of a healthy community is the diversity of housing. This encompasses availability, affordability, and location, all of which affect the lives of community members, especially the elderly, disabled and low-income families.

Statements a community should consider:

• The community’s zoning and planning regulations are updated regularly and reflect a broad spectrum of residents’ vision of the community in 5, 10 and 20 years.
• There is adequate affordable and rental housing for the elderly and disabled.
• There is adequate rental housing in the community.
• Land use regulations and land protection efforts are preserving an adequate amount of open space in the community.
• Current zoning regulations favor protecting the character of key sections of the community over new commercial development.
• There is adequate housing for young families and/or single-parent families.
• Our zoning regulations are designed to counteract sprawl.
• Municipal government works well with landowners to promote land protection and sustainable development while respecting private property rights.
• Residential housing is planned so that negative effects on traffic, public schools, sewer and water systems, and wildlife habitats are minimized.
• Areas of natural beauty and historic importance are well protected by zoning regulations and land protection efforts.
• Our community commits financial resources toward protecting valuable natural resources.

Participants: Tom Gauthier, Greg Tillman, Carol Maynard, Judy Ouellet, Robert Sunderland, Mary Ahern, Anita Sunderland, Levi Horton, Dennis Brown

Statement of Purpose:

A community’s strategic location and economic importance bring many people to live, work, and shop here. Roads get most of us where we need and want to go, and most people drive their own cars for convenience. However, more vehicles sharing the road results in increased highway maintenance, air pollution, and traffic congestion. Alternatives to automobile travel include pedestrian and bicycle travel, and bus and rail transportation.

Statements a community should consider:

• Our current road system is adequate and meets the needs of the residents and visitors.
• The use of traffic controls (signs, lights, speed limits, police, etc.) is adequate throughout residential and commercial areas.
• It is easy to get around on foot and by bicycle in our community.
• The community encourages car pooling, and helps make it work for people by providing information and accessible parking areas.
• Parking is adequate in the commercial areas.
• Tradeoffs, such as maintenance, pollution, and congestion are considered when widening main roads or buildings new roads.
• Public transportation would ease some of the traffic problems.
• Residents and visitors would use public transportation if it was available.

• no elderly public transportation for local areas/regional areas
• no public transportation coming into town for commercial use

Saturday Lunch

The 11 easels from the small groups were arrayed across the front of the room, each bearing a list of the key issues for that topic area. This portion of the day began with short presentations from a member of each of the groups, explaining their group’s list. The entire group worked together to evaluate and refine this list. After some discussion, 7 key issues emerged as important to study for the future of Epping. This list is presented below.

Themes

1. Downtown Revitalization
2. Communication
3. Infrastructure and Public Safety
4. Natural Resources and Environment
5. Community Involvement and Leadership
6. Schools and Lifelong Learning
7. Recreation Activities
After lunch, participants each chose which of the 7 themes they would like to discuss further and broke into small groups accordingly. Each topic attracted enough people to form a small working group.

The task of each group was to think about problems that existed in each theme and then to brainstorm possible solutions/answers to the issue identified. We did that by thinking out loud for half an hour or so about “problems” and “goals.” Then we suggested solutions, from practical to fanciful to idealistic. The next step was to evaluate the reality of each possible solution/project using the following impact/feasibility grid.

![Impact/Feasibility Grid]

IMPACT: How much will it matter?

- High
- Moderate
- Low

FEASIBILITY: How possible is it in our community?

Using the grid above, we copied each of our proposed solutions onto sticky notes. For each solution, the group decided together what the feasibility and impact of the solution would be. Then we placed the sticky note in the appropriate box.

Based on the grid, each group chose three solutions and wrote them up as proposals on their easel to be presented to the large group. Some groups chose only proposals with high impact/feasibility ratings, while others chose projects from a variety of ratings. Small projects, which were highly feasible but of low impact, were favored by those who wanted to start small and accomplish something quickly. Long term, difficult projects had advocates who were willing to commit to longer struggles with high rewards. Many of the groups proposed a combination of proposals. Verbatim notes from each of the groups are presented below.

Speak Up, Epping!
Follow-up Meeting
April 24, 2007, 7:00-8:30 pm
Epping Elementary School

Approximately 30 citizens participated in the follow-up meeting facilitated by UNH Cooperative Extension on April 24th at the Epping Elementary school, where participants received an overview of what occurred and began work to outline their objectives and timeline for the projects developed at the Speak Up, Epping! Community Profile held on April 14th. Following is a brief summary of each projects’ upcoming tasks, as well as their next meeting date/time, location and convener.

Downtown Revitalization (including defining the downtown open and green space through zoning from the Natural Resources group as well as sidewalks networked throughout downtown & Route 125 from the Infrastructure and Public Safety group):

Group will focus on seeking out funding and marketing strategies for their goals as well as define their objectives and present these to the Board of Selectmen, Planning Board and Town Planner.

Next meeting:  Wed. May 16th at 7pm at the Library
Convener:  Jane Burley  whitebarn245@aol.com

Communication

Group will network with other communities who have newsletters before beginning to work on one for Epping. Students may be asked to participate. A town e-mail newsletter will be set up. The town has already paid for and ordered a bulletin board for use in front of the town hall to post upcoming events.

Next meeting:  Tues. May 15th at 7pm at the Fire Station
Convener:  Barbara Helmstetter  barbara.s.helmstetter@dartmouth.edu

Community Involvement and Leadership

This group will be called “Epping Volunteers” and will work on a volunteer system, including a clearinghouse to contain needs and resources, will grow volunteer corps through web, newsletter and ETV, will facilitate communication among existing groups and to be more efficient, develop and coordinate volunteer training (i.e. food safety) and develop a recognition program for local volunteers.

Next meeting:  Tues. May 8th at 6:30pm at the Fire Station
Convener:  Liz Conrad  ljconrad01@comcast.net
Recreation

Group will survey what’s available in Epping for recreational opportunities for all age groups and will invite the Recreation Department, Conservation Commission and later the Communication group to work on this project. Charlie French from UNH Cooperative Extension will assist this group in accomplishing its goals.

Next meeting: Tues. May 8th at 7pm at Watson Academy Academy
Convener: Mary Ann Jenness maj1028@comcast.net

The other group formed at Speak Up, Epping!, Schools and Lifelong Learning will collaborate with the Facilities Committee in town to ensure marketing is done to keep the schools and other facilities in town are open after hours to the public.

All groups will come together on Tues. July 17th at 6:00pm for a potluck picnic to report on progress and next steps as well as celebrate accomplishments. The steering committee will be marketing this event in the coming weeks.
