

Jeff Williams, Acting Assistant Regional Silviculturist, Eastern Region, U.S. Forest Service, 300 Glen Rd., Gorham NH 03581, 414-297-3627, jeffreywilliams@fs.fed.us

Jeff lives in Maine and has been a Licenced Forester for 22 years practicing Resource and Habitat Management in Maine and New Hampshire. Twelve years have been with the White Mountain National Forest in Gorham, NH. Currently Jeff is detailing as the Assistant Regional Silviculturist. His permanent position is Assistant Ranger overseeing the Androscoggin District forestry program. This entails leading a team of four forestry professionals by providing direction for timber sale contracts, planning annual programs, generating natural resource plans, reviewing NEPA analysis, cooperating with partners and collaborating with other resource professionals. His interests and experience extends to wildlife habitat enhancement, civil engineering and pesticide application. Aside from forestry duties, he is a member of the District leadership team. Prior to the Forest Service, he was the Lands Management Biologist for Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, the Young Stand Silviculturist for Mead Corporation and an Operations Forester for Boise Cascade.