PARTIAL CUTTING

The two major objectives of partial cutting are (1) to preserve the rapidly growing trees which will be more profitable to cut after an additional growing period, and (2) to provide for the reseeding of desirable trees.

FOREST MARKET REPORT

THE FOREST MARKET SITUATION*

The volume of industrial roundwood (exclusive of fuelwood) produced in the United States in 1957 is estimated at 9.2 billion cubic feet. This is about 5 percent less than the peak of about 9.7 billion cubic feet produced in 1956. Sawlogs are expected to account for 59 percent of the roundwood produced in 1957, pulpwood 26 percent, veneer logs 6 percent, and miscellaneous products, such as cooperage logs and bolts, mine timbers, poles, and piling, the remaining 9 percent.

Stumpage prices in 1957, as indicated by prices received on National Forest Timber Sales were at near record levels. Stumpage is not a homogeneous commodity and prices received for different timber sales vary considerably with quality, logging and processing costs, and marketing practices and conditions.

SAWLOGS -- Sawlog production in the United States in 1957 was estimated at 34.8 billion board feet lumber tally. This was about 6 percent less than production in 1956 and 10 percent less than production in 1955. The west accounted for about 53 percent, of the sawlogs produced, the south 34 percent, and the north 13 percent.

The decline of sawlog production since 1955 reflects a drop in residential construction - the most important single use of lumber. Since 1955 non-farm dwelling units starts declined 27 percent, falling from 1.1 million units in 1956 and to an estimated 970 thousand units in 1957. It is generally anticipated that residential construction will increase substantially during the next few years as the upsurge in birthrates that started in the early 1940's results in an increase of new families.

Sawlog prices during early 1957 were near an all-time high. Douglas fir sawlogs delivered at towable waters in western Oregon and western Washington were selling at prices averaging from about $67 for grade 1 logs to about $45 for grade 3 logs -- a level somewhat below 1956. Prices for other sawlog species in other regions of the United States followed a somewhat similar trend, reaching a peak during 1956 and declining slightly during 1957.

PULPWOOD -- Pulpwood production in the United States during 1957 was estimated at 34 million cords. This is about 3 percent less than production in 1956 but 10 percent above the 30.9 million cords produced in 1955. The decrease in pulpwood production in 1957 reflects a decrease in demand for paper and paper board, and marks what is believed to be a temporary reversal in a trend that has been sharply upward for many years.

Softwoods such as southern pine, western hemlock, spruce, and fir made up about 83 percent of the pulpwood produced during 1957. It was estimated that about 58 percent of the pulpwood cut in 1957 came from the south, 22 percent from the west, and the remaining 20 percent from the forests of the north.

*"The Demand and Price Situation for Forest Products", U. S. Forest Service and Commodity Stabilization Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, November, 1957.

During the first part of 1957, pulpwood prices at the local points of delivery were at an all-time peak, at approximately the level prevailing in 1956.

VENEER LOGS ---The volume of veneer logs produced in the United States during 1957 was estimated at 3.3 billion board feet, including 2.5 billion board feet of softwoods and 1 billion board feet of hardwoods. Total production in 1957 was about 5 percent less than production in 1956, when a peak of 3.7 billion board feet of veneer logs was produced. The decline in production in 1957 primarily reflects the decrease in demand for softwood plywood resulting from the drop in residential construction.

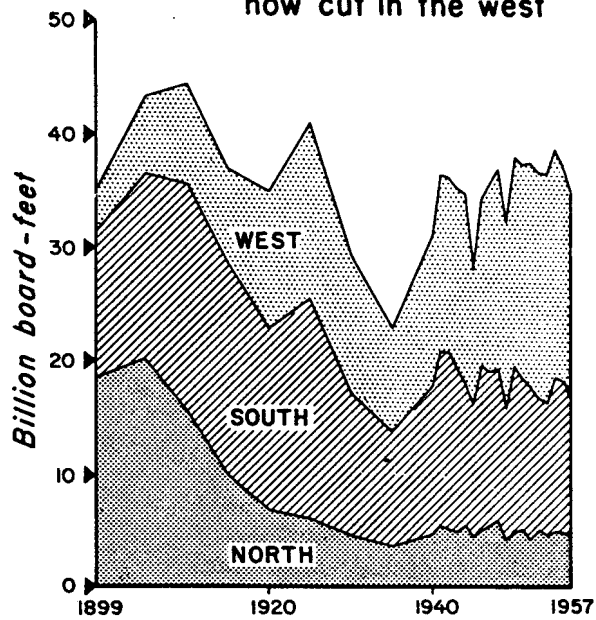

Prices for hardwood veneer logs were at or near a peak during 1957, although they showed wide ranges in value. Black walnut veneer logs were quoted from $50 to $375 per M board feet in Illinois.

OTHER ROUNDWOOD TIMBER PRODUCTS -- The production of other industrial roundwood timber products, such as cooperage logs, poles and piling, fence posts, hewn ties, round mine timber, and miscellaneous assortment of other products, amounted to about 700 million cubic feet in 1952. Since then trends in the production of these products have been variable -- some increasing and others decreasing. In total, however, there has apparently not been much change in the level of production.

At the close of 1957 the market for forest products, especially pulpwood, in New Hampshire was quiet. There is a limited market for sawlogs and veneer of good quality. This situation is expected to continue during the first part of 1958. Forecasters predict that the general economy will improve during 1958 and if these predictions are correct the market for forest products will improve during 1958. With a quiet market for forest products, prices paid for stumpage and for logs, pulpwood, and other forest products are less than prices paid at the start of 1957. Woodland owners should consider holding on to their stumpage in a buyers market.

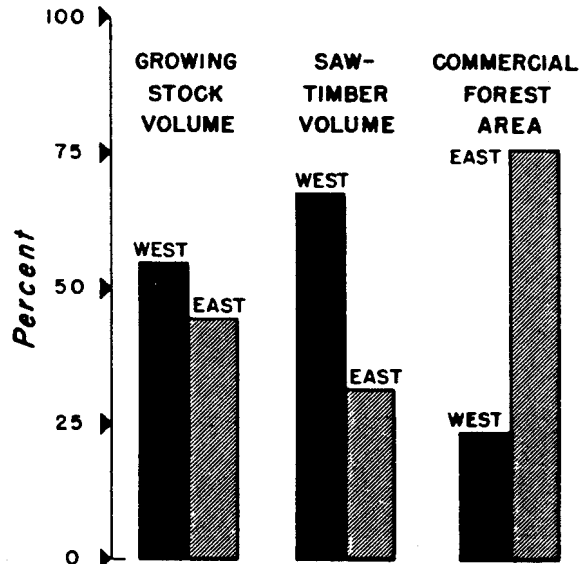

When the general economy improves, the prices offered for stumpage will improve. Trees are different from apples, potatoes, and onions. These commodities must be sold when they are ready for market, regardless, of the price situation. Trees will not deteriorate in value but will increase in value while the owner waits for a sellers' market.

Recommendations for Selling

New Hampshire woodland owners who plan to sell stumpage, logs, pulpwood, and other forest products are urged to consider the following recommendations before selling:

1. Find out from buyers of stumpage, logs, pulpwood, and other forest products the prices they offer in order that you may take advantage of the best market. Compare the local prices with those quoted from other sections of the state.
2. Before selling, consult your neighbors who have recently sold timber and use their experience as a guide. Ask your County Forester. In many instances, failure to do this has resulted in the woodland owner not getting full value of the product.
3. Thoroughly investigate all local timber requirements and prices since in many cases local markets pay better prices than outside markets because of the saving of transportation charges.
4. Advertise and secure competition among outside purchasers. The expense will be small and outside buyers will thus learn of chances to bid on timber in competition with local buyers.
5. Secure bids whenever possible, both by the lump sum sale based on closely estimated volume and by log scale measure. A choice is thus offered, and a more profitable form of bid can be accepted.
6. Consider the responsibility of the prospective purchaser before making the sale in order to avoid slow payment, costly collections, and losses.
7. When there is quality timber to market, these trees are worth more than the average or poor-quality trees. Be sure the buyer takes the factor of tree quality into consideration when offering you a price for stumpage.
8. Remember that standing timber usually increases in value and generally can be sold at any time. The owner, therefore, is not obliged to place his product on the market, if the price offered is not satisfactory. Sell only trees that should be cut. These trees should be marked by the owner or his agent with the help and advice of a qualified forester. Reliable operators will make partial cuttings by taking only the marked trees, if the owner insists.
9. A written timber sale agreement between buyer and seller is important before cutting starts on a lot. Sample sale agreement forms to fit different kinds of operations can be obtained from your County Forester.

Assistance Rendered by the County Forester

The County Forester helps woodland owners to help themselves. Your County Forester will assist you in the examination of your woodlands and make recommendations for managing them. He will help you or your agent in marking trees for cutting in limited amounts, and advise you in the marketing of forest products.

There are thousands of acres of young growing trees, such as pine, spruce, fir, and desirable hardwood, that can be converted into desirable stands of trees, if the overtopping weed trees are cut or killed. It is profitable to prune young, fast-growing, well-formed white pine with the purpose of growing quality logs that will yield clear lumber. Your County Forester can assist you in getting a forest improvement program started in the young stands on your woodlands.

Under the provisions of the Agricultural Conservation program and the Soil Bank program the Federal Government shares the cost of woodland improvements and trees planting with woodland owners. Tree planting on crop land is especially attractive to the land owner who is not a commercial farmer. The government is interested in renting your crop land for a period of at least ten years, if you are interested in taking it out from the production of agricultural crops and planting it to trees. The rental rate is attractive and the government will share 80 percent of the cost of installing the trees, not to exceed $20 per acre. Your County Forester can provide you with the information about these cost-sharing programs.

Range of Prices Paid for Forest Products, January 1958

Quality, quantity, location, logging chance, demand, and other factors affect the prices paid for stumpage, logs, pulpwood, piling, poles, fuelwood, and other forest products. The range in prices paid for hardwood stumpage and for roadside and mill deliveries is so varied that the prices quoted show an extremely wide range. The quality of hardwood varies greatly from generally poor quality in southern New Hampshire to a variation of poor and good quality in northern New Hampshire.

TABLES

Example

$$\frac{48 \times 8'}{384} = 1 \text{ cord}$$

If wood is longer or shorter than standard length (48") divide standard bolt length to get correct percentage. (Example 39" divided by 48" equals 81%)

LIST OF FOREST PRODUCTS BUYERS *

Names of buyers listed in this bulletin are those who have indicated to the County Foresters that they are in the market now or at a later date to purchase one or more of the following: stumpage, logs, pulpwood, bolts, excelsior wood, piling, posts, and other forest products. Many buyers and operators will give a preference to owners in the purchase of forest products who are interested in harvesting forest products from their holdings in accordance with cutting practices recommended by a County Forester or a private forester. Owners can well consider giving options for further cuts to operators who will make partial cuttings in stands operated according to good forest management.

The following abbreviations are used.

SW -- Softwood	HW -- Hardwood	Stump -- Stumpage
Road-- Roadside	Cus -- Custom Sawing	Del. -- Delivered to Mill
P ---Portable	S -- Stationary	B -- Buyer only
		L -- Logger

*Names of forest products buyers and other persons listed are offered without recommendations or preference. Omission is not a reflection on the integrity of any person. Any buyer not listed and interested in being listed in future issues may do so by contacting your County Forester or Extension Forester.
